COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

There has been quite a lot of talk this past week on the topics of dutch elm diseased trees and zoning. The two are related only in the aesthetic value each lends or takes from the town. Certain individuals are interested in each of the subjects but it takes more than a few people to derive any real benefits from a zoning law as a dutch elm disease program.

The elm shade trees that line the Common are a very real asset to the town and the elms along Broad Street are also very nice but the time that we can enjoy them is limited if a lot of preventative work is not done to stop the elm disease. One tree was removed from the Common this week that was killed by dutch elm disease and another tree will have to be taken down because it is dead. The disease has started on a number of trees and they will need to be pruned to remove the dead limbs. This is the time of year that the results of the elm disease can best be seen. Trees that leaved out this spring are losing some of the leaves and others are turning yellow. The disease is not new to the area but is spreading at a much faster rate than in the past. Some people are very concerned and I am sure you will see a community effort to save as many of the elm trees as possible.

The zoning law, the other topic of discussion, has been praised and criticized in the past and the same thing is still taking place. It might be that a thorough study of the ordinance should be made at this time to determine whether or not the ordinance needs revising.

DUTCH ELM DISEASE MEETING OF INTEREST

A group of about 30 interested local citizens met at the Community Room, Wednesday evening to listen to a discussion on the local problem of Dutch Elm Disease by John Chadwick, Arborist, Division of Entomology, Augusta. The disease has been prevalent in the local area for the past three years but has really become very evident in the last two weeks.

Mr. Chadwick gave an interesting talk on the spread of the disease, its life cycle, and habitat. He also outlined the measures which must be taken to combat it, consisting mainly of establishing a Tree Warden, a control area, and the cleaning up and prompt disposal of all dead and dying elm trees in the area.

The disease is caused by a fungus which grows under the bark through the sap-conducting vessels. The vessels become clogged, the leaves wilt, and the tree dies. The main breeding place is in dead trees and wood lying around, especially in damp places. The only way that is known to fight the disease is to clean up these dead trees.

Mr. Chadwick made a survey of the village trees and found 85 infected trees—an alarming situation. More study and an immediate start upon this work is vitally necessary if we are to insure the future of these beautiful, stately elms on our village streets.

Mrs. Philip Chadbourne, Mrs. Henry Robertson, Vickie Robertson and Jeanie Robertson, attended a bridal shower in Hanover on Tuesday evening, honoring Miss Nancy Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Russell, whose marriage to Robert Chadbourne will take place the end of this month.

Mrs. Dorothy Ann Kimball, Albany, and Herbert Lawrence Adams, Lake Placid, N. Y., were married at the West Parish Congregational Church, Saturday afternoon, Rev. Clifford W. Lewis, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kimball, Albany, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Katherine Adams, Thompsonville, Conn.

Mrs. David Salway, Meaux, was the mother of the bride, and was seated to her right in yellow when organza was fashioned with a lace jacket.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Rita Kimball and Sylvia Kimball, sisters of the bride, and Judith Stone, of South Paris. They wore blue gowns styled like that of the mother of honor. All wore brief net veils in colors matching their gowns and carried corsage bouquets of white and yellow carnations.

Harry Adams, Hallowbury, Conn., brother of the groom, was best man. Others were Roland Adams, Bethel; Paul Colby, Lake Placid, N. Y.; Rosemary Adams, Springfield, Mass.; and John O'Neill, Saranac Lake, N. Y.

A reception was held in Garland Chapel.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Mollycock Day plans are progressing and Bethel Girl Scouts will join in this celebration for the first time in many years. Besides participating in the parade, the girls will be hostesses at a display and information booth on the occasion. This will be combined with an area designated for children to be taken care of by very able daughters of the troop.

The baby sitting service will be free. Parents may leave their children here while touring the town or enjoying the games.

The camping caravan, which was mentioned earlier, will be of the Whippoorwill Camp located in Hallowbury on July 24. Due to limited space, facilities and staff, 100 girls will be able to attend from the Bethel Neighborhood. Bethel will be able to send 17 girls. This is a great disappointment to both the leaders and the girls but we realize that more will be able to go another year. There may be vacancies as the last minute but those who are going have been contacted.
